Subject: Revised Manual on EU emergency and crisis coordination

1. Delegations will find in Annex a new version of the Manual on EU Emergency and Crisis coordination¹.
2. This update has become necessary due to a number of changes in the contact details communicated to the General Secretariat of the Council².

¹ The General Secretariat of the Council has been invited to update regularly the contact details contained in Chapters 2 and 3, based on information provided by Member States.

² In 2010, the Crisis Coordination Arrangement (CCA) undergoes an in-dept review process. This includes a review of the most recent version (16163/2/07 REV2) of the CCA Standard Operating procedures (SOP). If appropriate, the present document, in particular its Chapter 1, has to be adjusted according to the outcome of the above CCA review.

INTRODUCTION

The present manual on EU emergency and crisis coordination arrangements was submitted to the Council in June 2006 as a response to the request by the European Council (The Hague Programme, point 2.4,) to set up an integrated EU arrangement for crisis management with cross-border effects. It is considered to be a living document which requires permanent updating and adjustment by the Presidency and General Secretariat of the Council.

This manual is based throughout on the key principle of subsidiarity - Member States have primary responsibility for the management of crises within their territory. It does not impose any obligations, nor does it change existing competences. Equally, the manual seeks to recognise the value of mutual support provided between Member States in a spirit of solidarity in the response to emergencies of a significant scale.

In the context of this manual, the notion of crisis management encompasses a wide range of sectors including civil protection, law enforcement, public order and the private sector. The manual is cross pillar and relevant both to external crises and crises within the EU and aims to assist Member States during emergencies. It is without prejudice to existing Crisis Management Procedures for the handling of crisis situations in the context of the Common Foreign and Security Policy (Title V of the Treaty of the EU).

With respect to the scope and the structure of this manual it needs to be noted that all emergencies and/or crises differ in their effects, political impact and respective response activities:

1. A few of the most severe emergencies are of such wide-ranging impact or political significance that they require a coordinated EU response on a political level. These emergencies/crisis are covered through the EU emergency and crisis coordination arrangements (CCA), setting out how the EU Institutions and affected Member States interact in Brussels in a crisis mode. The CCA can be found in Chapter 1.

2. Some emergencies/crises require engagement and sometimes mutual operational support from neighbours, other Member States, EU structures and/or other organisations, without requirement of an EU coordinated response on a political level as mentioned above in paragraph 1. These emergencies/crises are generally covered through well established regional, bilateral, multilateral, EU (e.g. the Commission's monitoring and information centre [MIC]) or other agreements and arrangements, particularly to deal with the most common cross-border emergencies.

For cases in which such arrangements do not exist Chapter 2 provides a list of default contact points of the EU Institutions, of all Member States and of the relevant organisations that can be used when needed at any time (24/7) to help in response to an emergency/crisis.

The information provided by this list will enable the Member States to respond rapidly to crisis situations by giving practical and operational support to the interim CCA and by facilitating cooperation between Member States. The default contact points mentioned on this list are situated in the national capitals and differ from those contact points in the Permanent Representations in Brussels that have been designated for use in case the CCA have been activated.

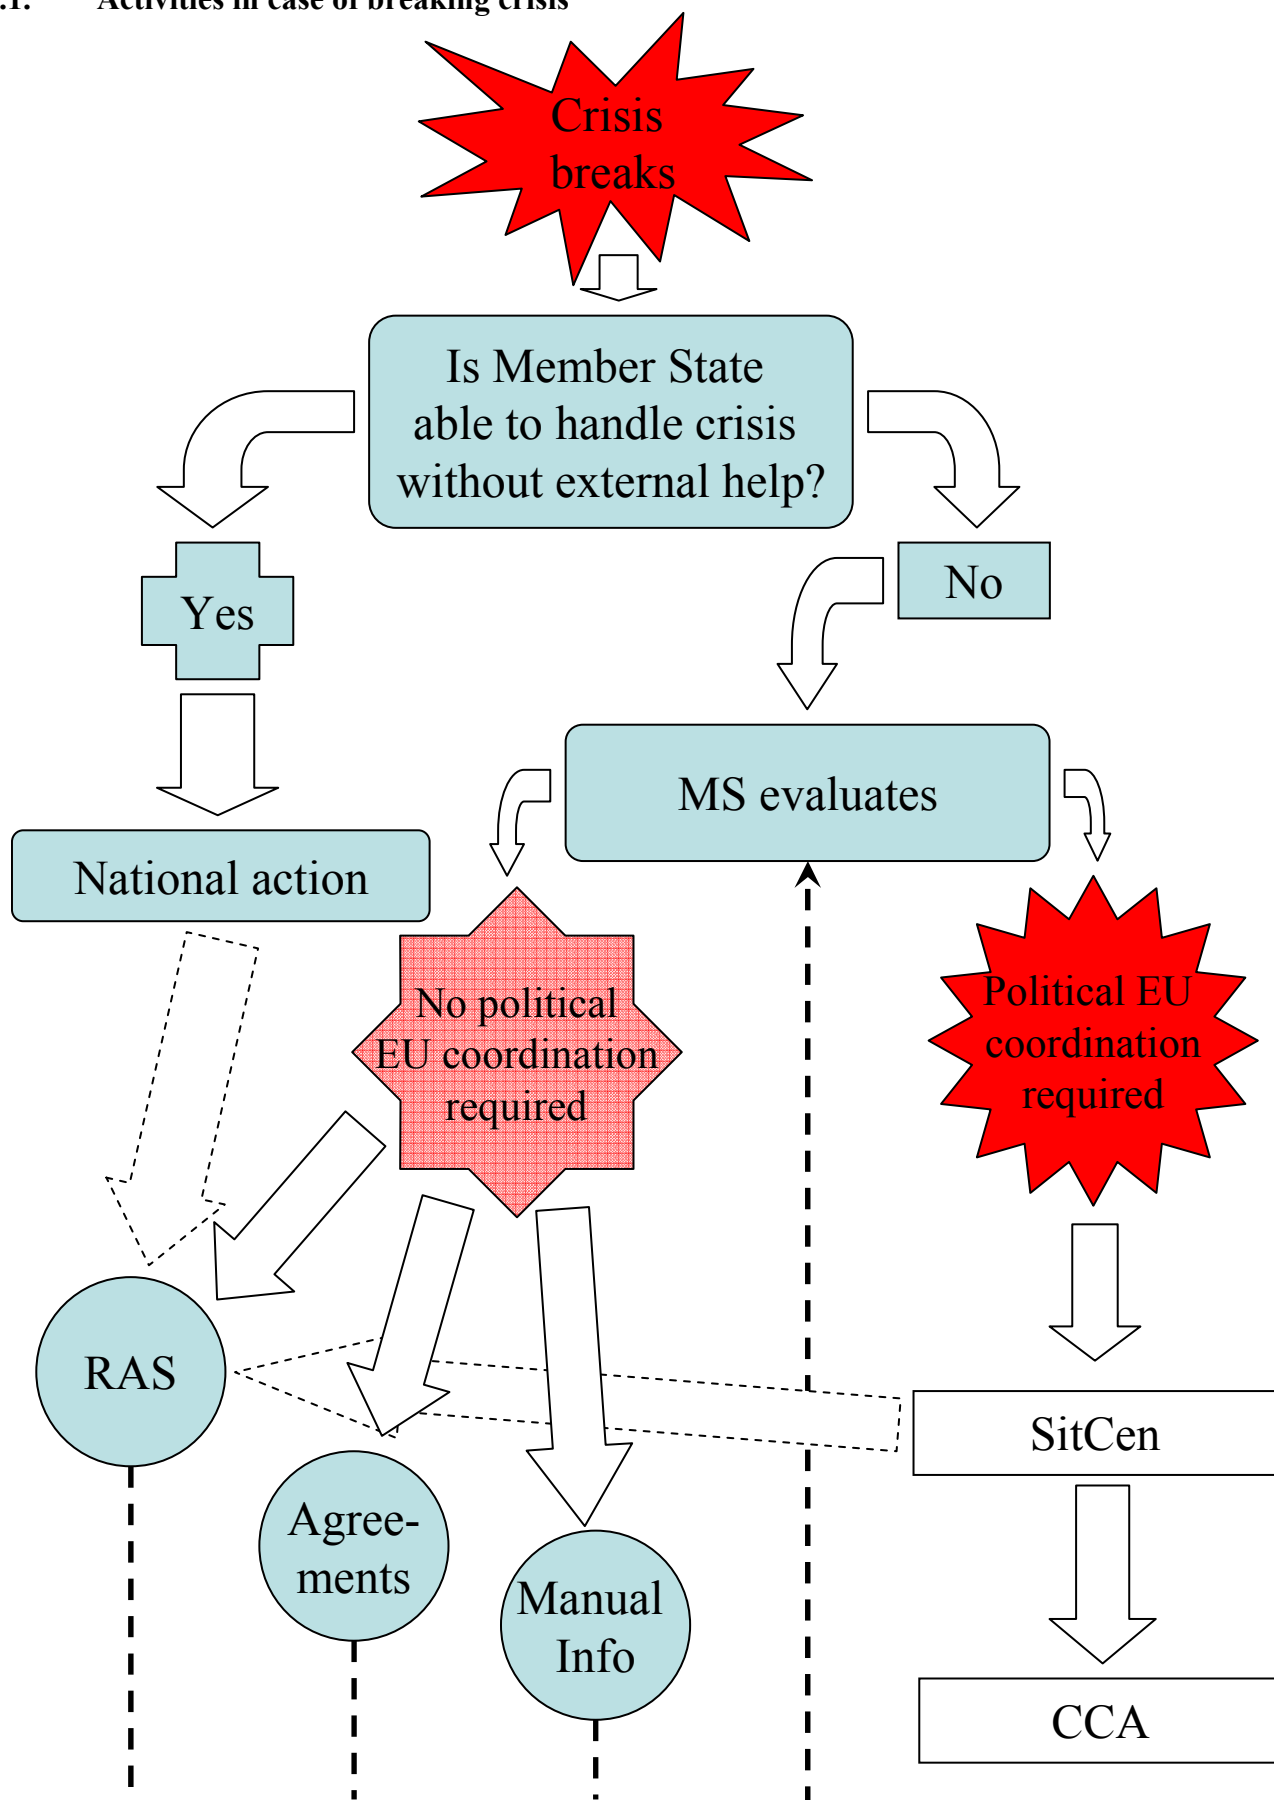

3. Most emergencies/crises are managed by the affected Member State(s) with no direct support from other Member States or from the EU institutions. National arrangements already exist to manage these emergencies/crisis. Therefore, they are not addressed in this manual.

Chapter 3 contains detailed descriptions of the different networks and instruments in the EU and relevant other organisations, which may play a role to manage the emergencies described above in paragraph 1 and 2.

The Annexes to the manual contains a list of reference documents and of abbreviations.

1. PROCEDURES

1.1. Activities in case of breaking crisis

The flow chart above is a summary depiction of information flows and alternative actions to be taken by the affected Member State depending on the impact of the breaking emergency/crisis.

After the breaking of an emergency/crisis the affected Member State will evaluate whether the response can be handled without the support from other countries or the EU institutions.

- If yes, all response actions are taken solely at national level without relying on assistance from other countries or the EU. The affected Member State might however - depending on the scale of the emergency/crisis - inform the specific Rapid Alert System (RAS) of the Commission (e.g. MIC).

- If no, the Member State will evaluate whether the emergency/crisis is of such an impact that

(i) no political EU level coordination is required:

In this case the affected Member State will either

- alert the specific RAS (e.g. MIC) and/or
- trigger bi- and multilateral agreements and/or
- consult the default contact details of the manual.

(ii) political EU level coordination is required:

In this case, the information will be conveyed to the Sitcen immediately. The precise procedures for triggering the CCA are described below.

1.2. EU Emergency and Crisis Coordination Arrangements

Procedures in the event of a breaking emergency or crisis (see flow chart attached)

General Caveats

All CCA are without prejudice to existing procedures for EU military and civilian crisis management operations, as well as existing crisis response mechanisms. They are fully consistent with the provisions of the TEU and TEC.

The procedures applied to the arrangements are developed in detail in the CCA Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) (doc. 16163/2/07 REV2). Future revisions of the Manual and of the CCA SOPs will be coordinated with a view to ensuring the compatibility of the two respective documents. This is particularly relevant following the evaluation process of the annual CCA exercises, which often results in changes to the SOPs with possible general implications to the arrangements."

1. Information on any breaking emergency or crisis that might require the triggering of the CCA shall be conveyed immediately to the General Secretariat of the Council (Sitcen). This does not exclude the reverse situation, where the Sitcen would bring the emergency or crisis to the attention of the Presidency in line with its general watch-keeping duties. The Sitcen is manned 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The Sitcen duty number is +32-(0)2-281-5000.
2. The Director of the Sitcen, or the designated replacement, shall immediately relay the information to the Presidency (when not the information's originator), the Directors of the Private Office of the Secretary-General and Deputy Secretary-General of the Council and to the Commission (ARGUS - duty service number +322-292-2222).

3. The Presidency, in consultation with the affected Member States, and assisted by the Council Secretariat and the Commission, may decide that a breaking emergency or crisis situation requires the triggering of the CCA in Brussels. Particularly relevant situations are those whose nature is deemed to be sufficiently serious to require an exceptional response at "Brussels level" (e.g. simultaneously affecting several Member States and the interests of the Union as a whole).
4. If the Presidency (Permanent Representative) decides to convene the CCA Steering Group, the Council Secretariat (Sitcen) and the Commission shall immediately be informed of the time and venue of the meeting and the Member States to be invited.
5. The Council Secretariat (Sitcen) will convene the principal members of the CCA Steering Group. It will send a message to all Permanent Representations informing them that a meeting of the Steering Group has been convened. Permanent Representations will also serve as a point of contact should any information be requested from that Member State by the CCA Steering Group.
6. If the Presidency (Permanent Representative) concludes that the arrangements need not be activated at that juncture, he or she shall inform the Council Secretariat (Sitcen), the Commission and Member States consulted.

Composition of the CCA Steering Group

7. The principal members of the CCA Steering Group are:
 - I. The Council Presidency: the Permanent Representative or the designated substitute;
 - II. Affected Member States: the Permanent Representative or the designated substitute;

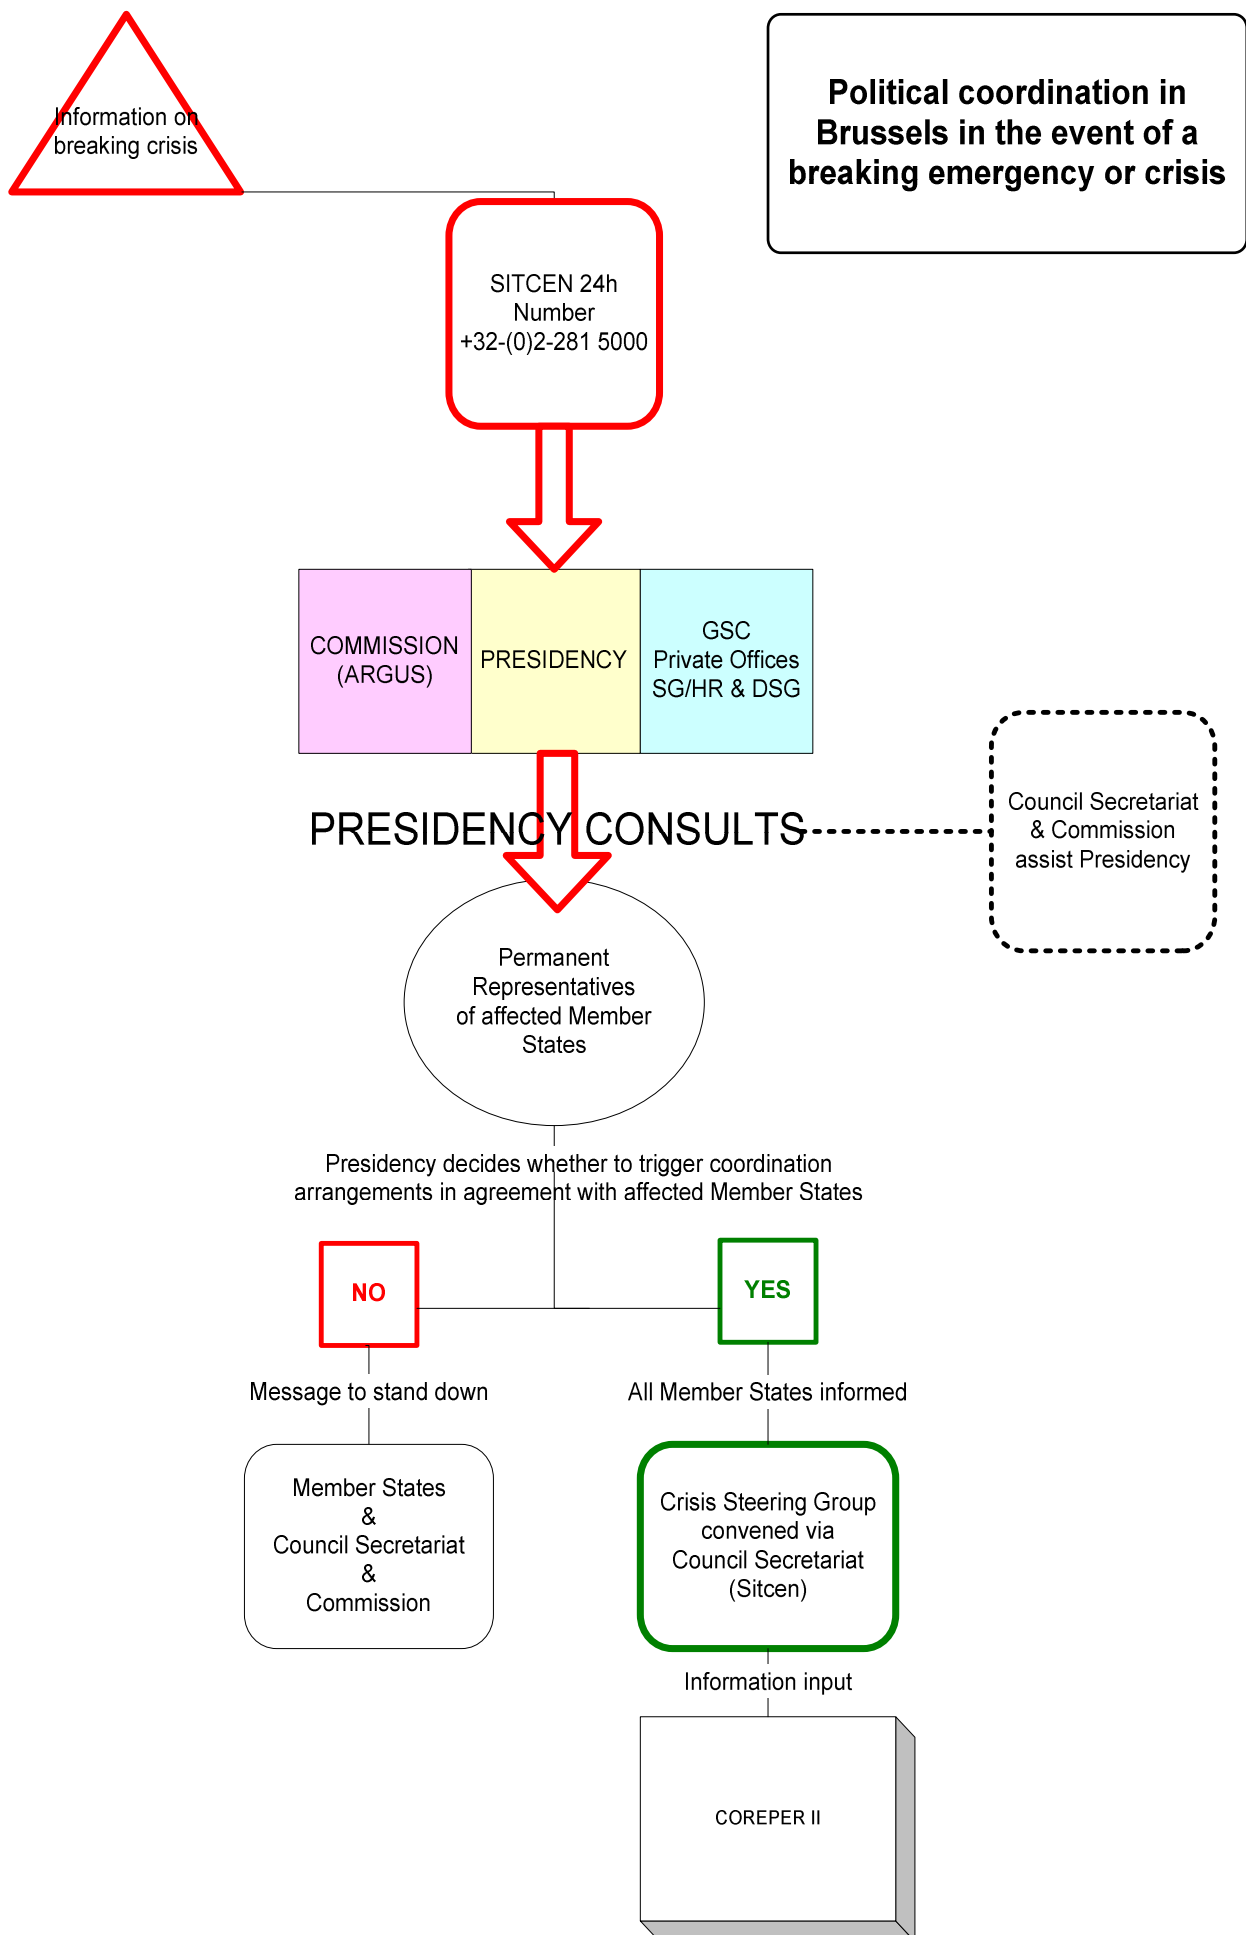

III. The General Secretariat of the Council: the Secretary-General, Deputy Secretary-General or their designated substitutes;

IV. The European Commission: the Secretary-General or the designated substitute.

8. Each of the principal members may be accompanied by a limited number of support staff as necessary (specified in the message convening the meeting). Logistic and secretarial support for the Steering Group will be provided by the Council Secretariat.

First meeting of the Steering Group

9. The role of the CCA Steering Group is to provide strategic thinking and political oversight in the response to the crisis. In the context of the CCA, the Steering Group replaces the work that in normal Council proceedings would be undertaken by Working Parties and Committees. On the basis of situation assessments and background analyses, as well as of the advice provided by the Council Secretariat, the Commission, and national sources, the Steering Group helps the Presidency to develop a full picture of the situation and to identify proposals for a possible common EU response to the crisis.
10. The first meeting of the Steering Group will accordingly have, as a minimum, the following agenda:
 - (i) Situation overview (presented by the GSC and the Commission)
 - (ii) Briefing by the Permanent Representatives of the affected Member States on the situation and the response by the relevant national authorities;
 - (iii) Briefing by the Commission on assistance requested and provided through Community instruments such as ECHO or the MIC;
 - (iv) Evaluation of expertise needs;
 - (v) Evaluation of possible action at EU level;
 - (vi) Evaluation of any decision which needs to be taken by COREPER II/Council.;
 - (vii) Preparation of common press release and press line at EU level (draft media messages and press line prepared jointly by the Presidency, the Council Press Office and the Commission);
 - (viii) Follow-up actions - date/time of next meeting of the Steering Group (if required).

1.2.1. Tasks of COREPER in context of CCA

The Permanent Representatives Committee (Coreper), given its overall coordinating role and the fact that it can be convened at short notice, is the central body for coordinating decisions and action in a CCA context. In order to do so, it will:

- Receive detailed assessments of the situation and be informed about measures already taken by the affected Member States and European institutions.
- While respecting national competences and existing Community instruments, promote the coordination and coherence of action taken by the Member States;
- Identify any decisions to be taken by the Council, if necessary, and ensure that such decisions are taken rapidly.

The Presidency will decide when to convene an extraordinary meeting of Coreper, which will normally be when a clear assessment of the situation and policy response options emerge from the CCA Steering Group.

1.2.2. CCA Support Machinery

Coreper and the Steering Group are supported in their endeavours by a support machinery, composed, inter alia, of a Support Group of senior officials from the Council Secretariat and the Commission, which assist the Steering Group by providing situation overviews, background analyses, and technical advice, as well as by identifying further analysis and expertise needs, and eventually by conducting contacts with relevant EU institutions and external organisations.

The Support Group will serve as the main interface between the Steering Group and the rest of the support machinery.

The composition of the Support Group will reflect the detailed expertise and analysis needed to meet the particular circumstances of each emergency (e.g. transport, health, environment, JHA expertise, etc.). It should include the following members, depending on their relevance:

- the Director of the Sitcen (permanent);
- the head of the Council's Press Office, the spokesperson of the SG/HR and the Commission's designated spokesperson (permanent);
- the Commission's ARGUS representative (permanent);
- other senior officials of the Council Secretariat and Commission (as needed);
- relevant staff from EU agencies (as needed);
- experts from the Presidency and Member States³ (as needed);
- other relevant expertise (as needed).

The Council Secretariat will provide support and prepare papers for submission to the CCA Steering Group from information provided by specialists.

³ In particular from affected Member States.

2. LIST OF DEFAULT CONTACT POINTS:

The list below contains the contact details of pre-identified default contact points in Member States, the Commission and the Council Secretariat which could be contacted by Member States in a cross-border crisis or emergency situation if

- no specialised contact point exists, or
- the contacting Member State does not know which specialised contact point to address (e.g. in a multi-sectoral crisis or emergency situation).

Thus, it is taken into account in the manual that specialised contact points exist and that the default contact points included in the manual do not affect the competences of existing contact points.

While some Member States identified a single national default contact point, other Member States indicated several contact points and their respective fields of competence.

The default contact points, as a minimum requirement, should be responsible only for internal information flow, without bypassing any responsibilities of existing contact points.

As additional minimum requirements, these pre-identified default contact points should be available 24/7 and its staff should be able to communicate in an international environment.

The information provided by this list will enable Member States to respond rapidly to crisis situations by giving practical and operational support to the interim CCA and by facilitating cooperation between Member States.

3. OVERVIEW OF EU NETWORKS AND INSTRUMENTS IN THE EU AND OTHER ORGANISATIONS

3.1. General Secretariat of the Council of the European Union – The EU Joint Situation Centre (SITCEN)

Contacts:

24/7 duty.

Phone: +32 22 81 50 00

Fax: +32 22 81 58 53

e-mail: sitcen@consilium.europa.eu

Activities:

The EU JOINT SITUATION CENTRE (SITCEN) monitors and assesses events and situations world-wide on a 24-hour basis with a focus on potential crisis regions, terrorism and WMD-proliferation. It is:

- linked to Member States' civilian and, via the EU Military Staff, to the military intelligence service and - with input from these as well as from diplomatic and open sources - provides political and security assessments,
- linked to all Member States' national security services and - with input from these - provides terrorism related assessments related to the internal as well as the external dimension thereof,
- the hub for the formal secure communications networks (CORTESY and ESDP-net) linking the Council to Member States' Foreign and Defence Ministries, maintains
- links to Member States' national crisis centres. It has a "contacts" database covering key decision makers in Member States and other crisis management centres,
- links with situation centres in other international organisations (UN DPKO, UNICEF, OCHA, OSCE, AU, NATO, etc.), and
- provides back-up and support for the EU Secretary General/High Representative, EU Special Representatives and other high ranking EU officials as well as for EU military and civilian crisis management operations.

The SITCEN is the backbone of the General Secretariat emergency and crisis response capabilities. These consist of:

- A 24/7 watch. In case of a significant world event which is deemed to have an impact on EU's common foreign, security and defence policies or in case of an incident in one of the EU ESDP missions, the SITCEN Duty Officer (DO) triggers an alert Standard Operating Procedure (SOP).
- The EU Military Staff and the Police Unit likewise have a 24/7 stand-by arrangement with staff on-call. In case of an incident, which affects military or police personnel, the SITCEN DO will first alert the stand-by military or police Duty Officer, as appropriate, following which these, in consultation with their hierarchy, will decide on further measures.
- Where appropriate the SITCEN will also alert the MIC or any other of the Commission's Rapid Alert Systems.
- The SITCEN has at all times a senior analyst on call - the Duty Manager (DM), whose responsibility it is to provide analytical support and, as appropriate, supervise the work of the DO in a ERP situation. The DM is also authorised to act on behalf of SITCEN management in an emergency situation until such time that they can be present themselves.
- Every ESDP mission has a support structure in Brussels. The different support structures all have an EU official on call - the Primary Point of Contact (PPOC). Once alerted by the SITCEN DO these PPOC will initiate needed action, as appropriate.
- One of SITCEN's units is the Consular Services Unit, whose responsibility it is to liaise with the crisis management offices of the ministries of foreign affairs of the respective Member States. In case of a serious incident affecting EU citizens, the head of this unit will be alerted and ensure further appropriate action in consultation with the consular cooperation network.

Legal basis:

Established by a decision by the Secretary General / High Representative of the EU.

3.2. Commission of the European Communities

The Commission has developed over the years the operational capacity to assist in the response to a wide range of emergencies through several rapid alert systems (RAS).

On 23 December 2005, the Commission adopted a general rapid alert system called ARGUS. This system has two main functions:

- to provide an internal platform to exchange, in real time, relevant information between Commission services and
- to ensure political coordination at high level in case of a major multisectoral crisis.

ARGUS uses an internal electronic communication network to enable Directorates general and RAS to share information in real time. Thus Commission services can ensure a coherent and efficient response. However, the response to crisis in specific fields stays under the responsibility of sectoral RAS.

Alerts are usually triggered by relevant authorities in Member States. The national competent authorities contact the relevant RAS to notify / to inform / to request assistance. Each RAS manages crisis through their own networks, procedures and expertise and respecting their own mandate. On the basis of its expertise and assessment, the RAS can identify a major multisectoral crisis or an imminent threat requiring political coordination at high level. A specific coordination process is launched to manage a rapid, coordinated and coherent Commission response, based on all relevant information, in its domains of competence and in cooperation with the other institutions.

Commission services can request their Commissioner to ask the President to trigger the coordination process. The President decides on the allocation of political responsibility for the Commission response and on the convening of the Crisis Coordination Committee (CCC).

The CCC is a specific operational crisis management structure bringing together high level representatives of Commission services involved in the response to the crisis. It will assess and monitor the development of the situation and identify issues and options for decision and action. National relevant authorities contact ARGUS through the sectoral specific RAS. The Council can call the stand-by duty number +32-2-29.22.222.

The commission's Security Office (DS) in Brussels is the 24h/7d operational contact point. Then, according to internal procedures, the relevant duty officers of RAS or relevant Commission's representatives are contacted by the DS.

3.2.6. Rapid alert system for food and feed (RASFF)

Contact:

DG SANCO, Unit E2 “Food Hygiene, Alert system and training”

Purpose:

The rapid alert system for food and feed is primarily a tool for exchange of information between competent authorities of the Member States in cases where a risk to human health has been identified in food or feed and measures have been taken, such as withholding, recalling, seizure or rejection of the products concerned. This quick exchange of information allows all Member States to verify immediately whether they are also affected by the problem. Whenever the product is already on the market and should not be consumed, the Member States authorities are then in a position to take all urgent measures, including giving direct information to the public, if necessary.

Activities:

Eurojust stimulates and improves the co-ordination of investigations and prosecutions between competent authorities in the Member States. Eurojust improves cooperation between the competent authorities of the Member States, in particular by facilitating the execution of international mutual legal assistance and the implementation of extradition requests. Eurojust supports the competent authorities of the Member States in order to render their investigations and prosecutions more effective when dealing with cross border crime.

Purpose:

Eurojust is a new European Union body established in 2002 to enhance the effectiveness of the competent authorities within Member States when they are dealing with the investigation and prosecution of serious cross-border and organised crime.

Eurojust is the first permanent network of judicial authorities to be established anywhere in the world. Eurojust hosts meetings, with translation facilities, between investigators and prosecutors from different states dealing with individual cases and at a strategic level and specific types of criminality. Eurojust fulfils a unique role as a new permanent body in the European legal area. Its mission is to enhance the development of Europe-wide cooperation on criminal justice cases.

3.3.3. European Centre for Disease Prevention and Control (ECDC)

Contact:

European Centre for Disease Prevention and Control (ECDC)

171 83 Stockholm; Sweden

Phone: +46 8 300 056

Fax: +46 8 300 057

Activities:

The Centre would develop epidemiological surveillance at European level. In this work, the Centre could either use its own staff, staff from the dedicated surveillance networks, or, in some instances, it could subcontract tasks to a national centre of excellence. The Centre could also identify and maintain networks of reference laboratories, and enhance the quality assurance schemes of microbiological laboratories.

Purpose:

To be effective the early warning and response system (EWRS) requires ‘around the clock’ availability of specialists in communicable diseases. Whilst the responsibility for action will remain with Member States and the Commission, technical operation of the EWRS would be undertaken by the Centre and its networks.

e-mail: eiss@nivel.nl

Activities:

EISS helps reduce the burden of disease associated with influenza in Europe by collecting and exchanging timely information on influenza activity, contributing to the annual determination of the influenza vaccine content, providing relevant information about influenza to health professionals and the general public and contributing to European influenza pandemic preparedness activities. The aim of EISS is to contribute to a reduction in morbidity and mortality due to influenza in Europe.

Purpose:

- To collect and exchange timely information on influenza activity in Europe;
- To aggregate, interpret and make publicly available clinical and virological data concerning influenza activity in Europe;

- To strengthen, and harmonise where appropriate, epidemiological and virological methods, primarily based on the integrated sentinel surveillance model, for assessing influenza activity in Europe;
- To contribute to the annual determination of the influenza vaccine content;
- To monitor influenza prevention and control policies in Europe, including influenza vaccine uptake;
- To contribute to European planning and response to pandemic influenza through surveillance, investigation and provision of information;
- To promote research in support of the objectives above;
- And to establish and operate a Community Network of National Reference Laboratories for Human Influenza in Europe.

e-mail: Official.Mail@iaea.org

Activities:

The IAEA works for the safe, secure and peaceful uses of nuclear science and technology. Its key roles contribute to international peace and security, and to the World's Millennium Goals for social, economic and environmental development.

Three main pillars - or areas of work - underpin the mission:

1. Promoting safeguards & verification
2. Promoting safety and security
3. Promoting science & technology

Purpose:

The IAEA is the world's center of cooperation in the nuclear field. It was set up as the world's "Atoms for Peace" organization in 1957 within the United Nations family. The Agency works with its Member States and multiple partners worldwide to promote safe, secure and peaceful nuclear technologies.

3.4.3. Interpol – Command and Co-ordination Centre

Contact:

INTERPOL; General Secretariat; 200, quai Charles de Gaulle; 69006 Lyon; France

Activities:

The Command and Co-ordination Centre links the Interpol General Secretariat, National Central Bureaus in all 184 member countries and regional offices.

The Command and Co-ordination Centre's activities operate on three basic functions:

- to determine the priority level of each message received by the General Secretariat and to reply to urgent requests on a real-time basis.
- to co-ordinate the exchange of intelligence and information for important operations involving several countries.
- to assume a crisis-management role during serious incidents, such as terrorist attacks, and to co-ordinate specialised assistance.

Purpose:

The work of the Command and Co-ordination Centre makes full use of a number of services offered by Interpol, including: Instant searches of databases of nominal data; Priority issue of Interpol notices; Fugitive investigative support; Support and co-ordination of disaster victim identification (DVI) efforts.

Another crucial function of the Command and Co-ordination Centre is the co-ordination of the deployment of Incident Response Teams (IRT) to the sites of major disasters or terrorist attacks. Recently IRTs have been sent to Bangladesh and Bali, Indonesia, following terrorist attacks. There are various other services the Command and Co-ordination Centre provides, including the publishing of Orange Notices, which are used to warn police, public institutions and other international organizations about potential threats posed by disguised weapons, parcel bombs and other dangerous objects or materials.

OCHA Liaison Officer in Brussels

(at present vacant)

Activities:

Humanitarian coordination is based on the belief that a coherent approach to emergency response will maximize its benefits and minimize its potential pitfalls - in short, that the whole will be greater than the sum of its parts.

Through approved structures and policies set out by the Inter-Agency Standing Committee, OCHA carries out its coordination role by:

- Developing common strategies
- Assessing situations and needs
- Convening coordination forums
- Mobilizing resources
- Addressing common problems
- Administering coordination mechanisms and tools

Member States:

193 Member States of the United Nations, including all countries that are members of the European Union.

OCHA-Country-Offices:

Angola, Burundi, Chad, Colombia, Democratic People's Republic of Korea, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Eritrea, Ethiopia, Guinea, Haiti, Indonesia, Iran, Liberia, occupied Palestinian territory, Pakistan, Russian Federation, Serbia and Montenegro, Sierra Leone, Somalia, Sri Lanka, Sudan, Tajikistan, Uganda, Zimbabwe

Switzerland

Phone: + 41 22 791 21 11

Fax: + 41 22 791 3111

Telex: 415 416

Purpose:

WHO's objective, as set out in its Constitution, is the attainment by all peoples of the highest possible level of health. Health is defined in WHO's Constitution as a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity.

Member States:

WHO has 192 Member States, including all UN Member States except Liechtenstein, and 2 non-UN-members, Niue and the Cook Islands. Territories that are not UN Member States may join as Associate Members (with full information but limited participation and voting rights) if approved by an Assembly vote: Puerto Rico and Tokelau are Associate Members. Entities may also be granted observer status - examples include the PLO and the Vatican. Taiwan is campaigning for observer status, against the opposition of China which is already a WHO member and sees Taiwan as part of China.
