 the Service of documents
 General approach 13834/1/19 REV 1
 14427/19

The Committee prepared this item for the Council and agreed to forward the draft text to the council for a General approach.

Joint statement by Austria, Czechia, Estonia, Germany, Hungary, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal, Slovenia and Spain

"One of the objectives of these Regulations is to digitise the transmission of requests for service of documents and taking of evidence between competent authorities in different Member States. For this purpose both Regulations call for the establishment of a mandatory electronic decentralised IT system. The signatories welcome the objective of the Commission proposal and the compromise text of the Finnish Presidency.

The Regulations do not explicitly mention by name a specific software solution to futureproof the Regulations in a fast-moving technological environment. However, the Member States and the Commission have agreed that the implementing acts of the Regulations will specify the e-CODEX system as the appropriate software solution. The signatories support this choice and the use of e-CODEX for this kind of data exchange.

Taking this into account, we draw attention to the Council conclusions on the sustainability of e-CODEX (November 2014), which put forward the opportunity of entrusting an independent existing EU Agency with the governance of e-CODEX. Recalling also the Roadmap of e-CODEX (November 2016) and the Council Conclusions on e-CODEX (June 2017), which invited the Commission "to present a proposal for ensuring the sustainability of e-CODEX, providing the necessary legal and technical arrangements enabling eu-LISA to ensure its maintenance and interoperability", the signatories call upon the Commission to present a proposal for ensuring the sustainability of e-CODEX, providing the sustainability of e-CODEX. The signatories call upon the Commission to present a proposal for ensuring the sustainability of e-CODEX, providing the necessary legal and technical arrangements enabling the sustainability. This should be done before the implementing acts of the Regulations are adopted.

We also call upon the Commission to provide the necessary resources enabling this organisation to ensure the maintenance and interoperability of e-CODEX and to present a plan regarding the necessary legislative proposal for the future maintenance of e-CODEX."

Joint statement by Estonia, Ireland and Portugal

"One of the main aims of this Regulation is to further improve the efficiency and speed of judicial proceedings, in a way which maintains or improves the existing level of access to justice and the protection of the rights of the defence in cross-border proceedings, and to reduce the burdens for citizens and businesses involved in cross-border proceedings resulting from undue costs and delays. This can be achieved by the better use of technical developments and electronic means for the service of procedural documents in civil and commercial matters.

The signatories welcome the objective of the Commission proposal and the compromise text of the Finnish Presidency. There are many aspects in the compromise text that the signatories can be very satisfied with.

However, Article 14a (2), which allows a Member State to indicate the conditions under which it will accept service of judicial documents to people with an address in its territory by e-mail, leaves the Member States with a broad possibility not to accept service by e-mail in its territory. There is no limitation foreseen to the conditions the Member States can indicate, making it thus possible to object to it as such. In order to follow the main objective of the Regulation it is also vital to follow the principle of non-discrimination - the Member States accepting e-mail as a valid method of service domestically should accept it in cross-border cases as well. Not following the principle of non-discrimination would jeopardize the main objective of the Regulation.

The signatories regret that there was not sufficient time to consider the impact of this objection on the judicial proceedings and the rights of parties before the adoption of the general approach. We believe that it is essential to find a better solution during the upcoming trilogies with the European Parliament, which would better achieve the aim of the Commission proposal."

Statement by Germany

"Deutschland erklärt, dass wegen der Kurzfristigkeit der Vorlage des ersten Entwurfes der Ministererklärung bisher keine Möglichkeit für die Mitgliedstaaten bestand, sich seriös eine Meinung zum Inhalt der Erklärung zu bilden.

Die hier heute zur Entscheidung anstehende formale Mandatierung der Europäischen Kommission zur ,Annahme der Ministererklärung' beinhaltet faktisch sowohl das Mandat zur Verhandlung an sich als auch das Mandat zur Abgabe inhaltlicher Voten im Rahmen der Verhandlung. Nach deutschem Verständnis wird davon ausgegangen, dass das gewählte Verfahren im Bereich der geteilten Kompetenz üblich ist und die Ermächtigung an die KOM durch das ihr zugestandene Mandat sowie das allgemeine EU Recht begrenzt wird. Zudem verweist DE auf die ebenfalls in der Working Party on the Environment gegebene Erklärung, die finale Ministererklärung werde im Konsensverfahren beschlossen, sie habe jedoch keine rechtliche, sondern bloß politische Wirkung."

Courtesy translation

"Germany would like to point out that as the first draft of the ministerial declaration was presented at such short notice, there has been no opportunity for the member states to properly form an opinion on the content of the declaration.

The formal mandate of the European Commission, to be decided today, to adopt the Ministerial Declaration' de facto includes both the mandate to negotiate as well as the mandate to vote on the content during the negotiation. It is our understanding that the chosen procedure is common in the area of shared competence and that the authorisation granted to the Commission will be limited by virtue of its mandate as well as general EU law. In addition, Germany would like to refer to the explanation also presented in the Working Party on the Environment which states that the final ministerial declaration is to be adopted by consensus, but does not have any legal effect, just a political effect."

Statement by Cyprus, Greece and Malta

"Cyprus, Greece and Malta do not object to the Commission's authorization to endorse the Ministerial Declaration, as a non-legally binding political agreement. This is, however, without prejudice to our final decision on the final text of the Ministerial Declaration. We understand that the negotiations on the Ministerial Declaration will not be finalised until a consensus can be reached on the whole text by all Contracting Parties to the Barcelona Convention.

We reserve the right to speak on our own behalf during further COP negotiations, in line with Article 25 of the Barcelona Convention, and underline that the authorization of the Commission to endorse the Ministerial Declaration by the Council shall not entail any transfer of competences to the Union and does not hold any bearing on the adoption of draft decisions during the on-going negotiations."

18.	Council Decision on the EU position in the 31st session of the IMO Assembly Adoption	14211/19 + ADD 1-2 14212/19

Statement by Belgium, Germany, Greece, Italy, Latvia, Malta and the Netherlands

"We, the undersigned, do not consider the adoption of a Council decision for non-legally binding instruments to be adopted in the IMO reasonable and proportionate. We urge the European Commission to continue the informal coordination of EU positions of the aforementioned elements.

The proposed procedure will have considerable consequences on the work of the Member States in the IMO and within the EU. It will significantly increase the Council's workload on all relevant levels and it will lengthen the EU internal coordination process, as the procedural workload within the EU will by far exceed the procedure for the adoption of relevant nonbinding IMO instruments. Furthermore, it limits Member States substantially in their margin of negotiation in the IMO context, without any additional value for securing the EU acquis.

In this context we would like to recall that the Commission has firmly stated on several occasions that the EU's focus should remain "firmly on the big things, where European action has a clear and demonstrable added value"."

Statement by the Commission

"The Commission considers that the items due to be adopted at the 31st session of the IMO Assembly, which would introduce amendments to resolution A.658(16) on the use and fitting of retro-reflective materials on Life-Saving Appliances and amendments to the Survey Guidelines under the Harmonized System of Survey and Certification (HSSC), resolution A.1120 (30), will affect EU law through the application of Directive 2014/90/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 23 July 2014 on marine equipment and Commission implementing Regulation (EU) 2019/1397 of 6 August 2019 on design, construction and performance requirements and testing standards for marine equipment, and through the application of Regulation (EC) No 391/2009 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 23 April 2009 on common rules and standards for ship inspection and survey organisations. The Union position established in respect of the amendments to resolution A.658(16) on the use and fitting of retro-reflective materials on Life-Saving Appliances and amendments to the Survey Guidelines under the Harmonized System of Survey and Certification (HSSC), resolution A.1120 (30) must therefore be understood in this regard."

Statement by the Commission

"In the upcoming Energy Charter Conference, which meets on 10-11 December 2019, the Energy Charter Conference is expected to adopt the Draft Conclusions of the Review under Article 34(7) of the ECT and the draft budget 2020-2021, which may have legal effects for the EU.

In view of the short time-frame available, the Commission will not be able to make a proposal in due time to establish the Union position. The Commission understands that therefore the matter will be handled in the Council as a matter of urgency.

The Commission maintains its view that an EU position in an international body must be formally adopted by the Council on a proposal from the Commission in accordance with Article 218(9) TFEU. The practical arrangement in relation to the Energy Charter Conference has to be seen in the context of the exceptional nature and does not constitute a precedent for the future."

Statement by the Netherlands

"While supporting the overall package on the review of the European System of Financial Supervision (ESFS review), the Netherlands regret that the amendments of the Regulation on the European Systemic Risk Board (ESRB) do not fully address our repeatedly expressed concerns with regard to a potential conflict of interest between the ESRB and the European Central Bank (ECB). At the same time we acknowledge the improvements provided for in this amended Regulation, for instance with regard to the strengthening of the position of the ESRB's first Vice-Chair. We call on the European Commission to consider possible alternative models for the governance of the ESRB when reporting on the mission and organization of the ESRB in a future report on the ESRB. DEU begrüßt, dass eine Einigung erzielt werden konnte, betont jedoch, dass der Vorschlag keinen wesentlichen Beitrag zu den im Bankenunionskontext erforderli-chen Maßnahmen zum nachhaltigen Abbau und der künftigen Vermeidung notlei-dender Kredite leistet. Der Richtlinienvorschlag in der Form der Allgemeinen Ausrichtung enthält eine Viel-zahl von nationalen Wahlrechten (sog. Kann-Vorschriften). DEU erkennt an, dass ohne diese Wahlrechte eine Einigung im Rat aller Voraussicht nach nicht möglich gewesen wäre. Die an sich wünschenswerte weitergehende Harmonisierung wird hierdurch jedoch nicht erreicht. Aus DEU Sicht wäre es beispielsweise vorzugswür-dig gewesen, wenn sich die Mitgliedstaaten bei Artikel 31 (Übertragung von Rechten aus AECE-Vereinbarungen) auf eine unionsrechtlich einheitliche verbindliche Rege-lung hätten einigen können. Es ist daher fraglich, ob insbesondere in Mitgliedstaaten, in denen eine gerichtliche Verwertung von Sicherheiten nur schwer möglich ist, mit einer wesentlichen Verbesserung zur gegenwärtigen Lage, insbesondere einer Be-schleunigung der Verwertung von Sicherheiten bei Kreditverträgen, gerechnet wer-den kann.

Aus DEU Sicht stellt die Richtlinie in der Form der Allgemeinen Ausrichtung keinen wesentlichen Schritt zur Erfüllung der geforderten Maßnahmen nach dem "Action plan to tackle non-performing loans in Europe" des Rates vom 11. Juli 2017 dar."

"Germany agrees with the General Approach to the Directive of the European Par-liament and of the Council on the accelerated extrajudicial collateral enforcement (Doc. No. 14261/19 ADD 1).

Germany welcomes the fact that an agreement has been reached, but stresses that the proposal does not make a significant contribution to the measures required in the context of the banking union for a sustainable reduction and future avoidance of non-performing loans. The proposal for a directive in the form of a general approach contains a large number of national options ("may" provisions). Germany recognises that without these options an agreement in the Council would in all likelihood not have been possible. However, with that the further desirable harmonisation will not be achieved. From Germany's point of view, for example, it would have been preferable if the Member States had been able to agree on a uniform binding provision under Union law with regard to Article 31 (transfer of rights from AECE agreements). It is therefore questionable whether, especially in Member States where judicial realisation of collateral is difficult, a substantial improvement in the current situation, in particular an acceleration of the realisation of collateral in credit agreements, can be expected.

From Germany's point of view, the Directive in the form of the General Approach does not represent a significant step towards fulfilling the required measures under the "Action plan to tackle non-performing loans in Europe" of the Council of 11 July 2017."

Statement by Poland

"Poland abstains from voting on the AECE directive in general, firstly to the very concept of creating an instrument dedicated to the enforcement of debts arising from credits issued by credit institutions. This concept is opposed by constitutional law of the Republic of Poland. In particular it does not comply with the rule of equality before the law and the right to receive equal treatment from public institutions, as declared in a judgment passed by the Constitutional Tribunal on the 15th of April 2015 (P 45/12). A similar instrument was eliminated from Polish law by this judgment even though it diverged from regular procedures only in the lack of an examination of claims by the court and was enforced in a judicial enforcement procedure.

Contrary to the viewpoint of the Presidency, this problem cannot be solved by extending the scope of AECE to other debts, because the Constitutional Tribunal has also stated in the abovementioned judgment that conducting enforcement on the basis of a document issued by the creditor is incompatible with the principle of court exclusivity in the exercise of judicial powers, even if the debtor has previously agreed to it.

From the perspective of Poland AECE is also unnecessary, because Polish law does already provide an instrument for a mostly extrajudicial creation of an enforcement title in the form of a submission to enforcement by notarial deed. This instrument is far more flexible than AECE, finds widespread use in practice (including banking) and achieves the primary goal of AECE, which is the omission of an examination of claims by the court, even though it is enforced in regular judicial procedure.

Finally, the harmonisation of enforcement procedures does not seem to be a worthy pursuit in general. National rules on enforcement are both very extensive and substantially different. This means that any attempt at harmonisation at the Union level will, in some aspects in certain countries, compromise the level of protection enjoyed by creditors and may result in lengthier procedures. Therefore, the directive does not even accomplish its main intended purpose, that is strengthening the position of creditors in order to facilitate the trade of debts arising from credits issued by credit institutions and is likely to become dead law."

Joint statement by Estonia and the Netherlands

"According to art 33 para 2 (b) of the directive, the Member States are obliged to collect and communicate to the Commission data on the length of the proceedings from notification to the receipt of the proceeds of the realisation or to the transfer of ownership to the creditor. The signatories do not agree that such data will be used to make conclusions on the efficiency of the enforcement proceedings in Member States since notification is not the starting point of enforcement proceedings. Starting of the enforcement proceeding and also carrying out the proceeding depends on various aspects that are in the creditors' sphere of influence. Those aspects are not and could not be regulated in this Directive. Hence, data collected according to art 33 para 2 (b) cannot objectively show the efficiency of the enforcement proceedings."
